RIHousing is committed to creating a diverse environment and is proud to be an equal-opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age, or veteran status.

What it's all about:

The HR Business Partner (HRBP) position is responsible for aligning business objectives and HR functions to deliver value-added service to management and employees in designated business units. The HRBP develops human resources solutions and supports business units on human resource-related matters. The HRBP will partner with management to drive people-focused initiatives, including performance management, compensation management, workforce planning, and organizational development strategies. The incumbent will serve as a point of contact for employee questions and concerns regarding company policies and procedures.

What you'll do on a daily basis:

- Drive employee-centric company culture that emphasizes customer service excellence, quality, continuous improvement, and high performance.
- Recommend human resources practices necessary to establish a positive employer-employee relationship and promote a high level of employee morale and motivation.
- Proactively advise business unit leaders in employee life-cycle areas such as hiring, promotions, performance management, and terminations. Develop innovative and agile recruiting strategies to attract a diverse pool of qualified and capable talent to meet RIHousing's needs.
- Handle employee relations issues and concerns by working with internal partners and senior leaders to determine resolutions.
- Protect the interests of employees and the company in accordance with company Human Resources policies, compliance, governmental laws, and regulations.
- Work closely with business unit managers to comprehensively understand department hiring needs. Provide oversight of the talent acquisition process, including workforce planning, and ensure compliance with compensation guidelines and approvals. Provide input on salary recommendations.
- Develop and execute comprehensive training and career development to meet business unit and employee needs.

- Contribute Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging (DEIB) insights and knowledge to increase awareness and understanding of DEIB as a critical business imperative.
- Assist with developing and administering programs, such as succession planning, leadership, and mentorship programs.

What you'll bring to the team:

- The experience and expertise to drive an employee-centric company culture that emphasizes customer service excellence, quality, continuous improvement, and high performance.
- Demonstrable experience contributing to Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging (DEIB) insights and knowledge to increase awareness and understanding of DEIB as a critical business imperative.

What you'll need to succeed:

- A minimum of 5 years of Generalist/HR Business Partner experience with proven expertise in talent management, workforce planning, change management, organizational development, and other strategic people-related programs supporting corporate organizations.
- Working knowledge of human resource disciplines, including compensation practices, organizational behavior, employee relations, diversity, and federal and state respective employment laws.
- Experienced with internal investigatory processes and how to ensure outcomes are fair, consistent, and compliant with company policies and applicable laws and regulations.
- Experience assessing organizational learning and developmental needs to drive and deliver training initiatives.
- Demonstrated continuous improvement mindset and familiarity with continuous improvement practices.
- Must be self-motivated and able to work independently and as a team member.
- High degree of judgment, tact, and diplomacy.
